This was a small gathering of family and friends after a funeral nearby, held in a private section.

The staff members were most helpful, friendly and appropriately sympathetic at what was a sad occasion.

The building itself is full of historical character and worthy of a visit solely for that,
but of course the food and drink offerings added to the opulent experience.

Such venues are what makes England... well, England,
a treasure trove of architectural and social heritage.
